POLITICS

Fletcher said, "I approve the precedent established by Mr. Roosevelt in going to the convention to receive the notification of his nomination."

(Mr. Roosevelt set a precedent by going to speak to the delegates at Chicago after his nomination four years ago.)

Desires of Nominee to Rule.
The Cleveland stadium seats 80,000. Fletcher said the republican plans are conditional on the desires of the successful candidates for the republican nomination.

Other political developments included a comment by a republican and a democrat on a recent declaration of President William Green of the American Federation of Labor and a speech by democratic Chairman James A. Farley asserting that the East had benefited from farm relief because of "enormously increased" shipments of manufactured goods to the west.

President Green said recently that he favored the re-election of President Roosevelt. Chairman Fletcher, in a statement last night, asserted that the republican national committee "attaches no particular significance" to this because Green has "always been a Democrat" while the federation itself is non-partisan.

Col. Henry Breckinridge, anti-new deal Democrat, said in an address at Akron, Ohio, that Green was making a "partisan" move by putting "labor into partisan politics."

Farley at Hartford.
Farley, in his Hartford speech, said attacks on the administration were "fly specks on the fair canvas on which a statesman has inscribed a wonderful recovery for a shaken people."

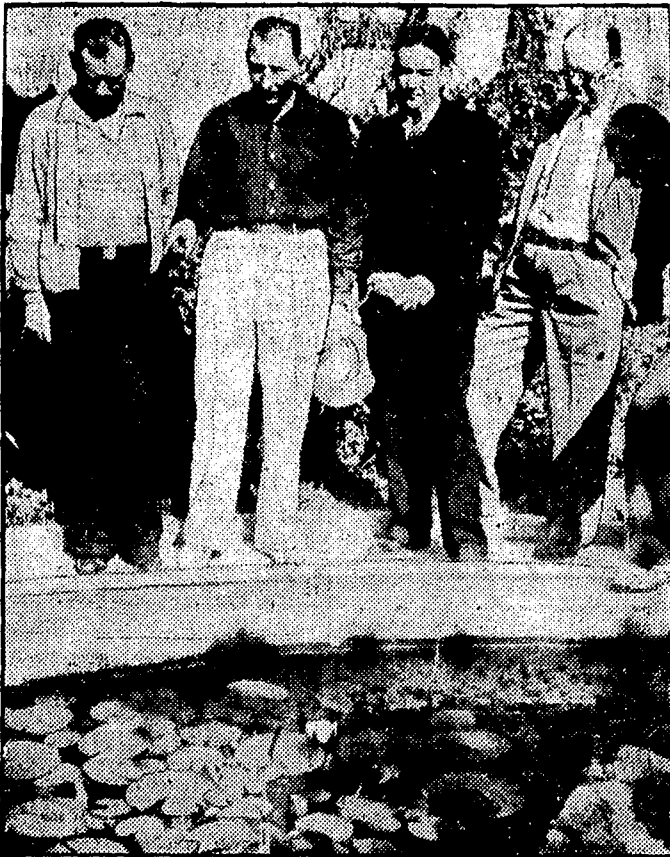

The South Dakota primary, in which an unopposed state claimant by forces of Governor Alf M. Landon of Kansas contested with one supporting Senator Charles of Idaho continued to attract attention because of the closeness of the vote.

With only 75 of the state's 1,938 precincts reported, the vote for the former state was 42,327, as compared with 41,428 for the latter.

In California the republican unopposed state, with all but 546 of the 11,162 precincts reported, had 327,945 votes compared with 250,349 for the state pledged to Landon. On the Democratic side President Roosevelt had 768,617 votes to 58,897 for Representative John McGoorty and 101,408 for Upton Sinclair.

ETHIOPIA

Jijiga, and pressed into service. Haile Selassie's own Imperial police to "mop up" riot-torn Addis Ababa.

General Rodolfo Garzanti, hard-bitten veteran of colonial wars, landed at Jijiga in an airplane after his motorized troops had seized the town without resistance.

Now only Harar, "Garden City" of Ethiopia, remains to be seized by the fascists. It lies a few kilometers northwest of Jijiga and its fall was considered only a matter of days.

In Addis Ababa, those of Selassie's guardsmen who had not fled to the hills were rounded up by Major Giuseppe Bottai, the new civil governor. They were put to work cleaning up the burned and pillaged city.

Adde Ababa again was calm under the watchful eyes of fascist military police. Last night's one untoward incident was the wounding of two Frenchmen by Ethiopian machine gun bullets.

The state department at Washington reported as missing 30-year old Eleanor Meade, correspondent for an American news agency. But Cornelius Van H. Engert, the American minister at Addis Ababa, wirelessly the belief she may have left the city prior to the recent looting and rioting.

Great Britain, facing, in the words of Anthony Eden, "the facts" of Italian conquest, undertook an exchange of views with its dominions of possible League of Nations reform.

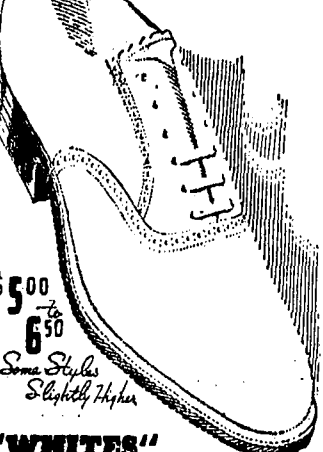

Authoritative British sources said Italy had the right to ask that foreign legations be withdrawn from Ethiopia as a matter of military practice, but that it was up to the League of Nations to decide the future political status of Ethiopia.

Eden told the House of Commons yesterday "the League must go on," despite Premier Mussolini's staggering blow at its prestige. But the British cabinet

Rates of Wages.

In connection with the WPA funds, the committee wrote in the stipulation that the President require payment of wages "as will, in the discretion of the President, accomplish the purpose of such appropriation and not adversely or otherwise tend to decrease the going rates of wages paid for work of a similar nature; provided, that the President may fix different rates of wages for various types of work on any project, which rates need not be uniform throughout the United States.

The bill extended workmen's compensation to WPA workers, required a full report on WPA operations be made to congress by January 10, and set up a maximum penalty of 2,000 fine and one year's imprisonment for fraud in connection with application and other phases of WPA.

The committee said the WPA allowance and money for the CCC, with money available for the general public works program and an estimated $1,000,000,000, retroactive from last year's $4,880,000,000 relief appropriation would make available for the fiscal year beginning July 1 $3,100,000,000 for emergency employment, compared with estimated expenditures of $3,500,000,000 for similar purposes this year.

Showdown Fight Over Relief Is Started

WASHINGTON, May 7.—(AP)—A showdown fight over relief, perhaps the last of the major issues to come to a vote this session, began today on Capitol Hill.

As leaders convened the house debate President Roosevelt's request for $1,600,000,000 for next fiscal year, republicans raised a concerted demand that WPA be dismantled and replaced with a system of federal grants to states.

Administration leaders, however, expressed confidence that the fund contained in a deficiency bill of more than $2,000,000,000 would pass the house this week or early next.

Under the leadership of Rep. Snell (R-NY), about 90 house republicans held a two-hour caucus to newspapermen this statement last night, after which Snell read of their position:

"We believe in adequate appropriations for the relief of the suffering and needy people in every community.

"We demand that the distribution of relief funds be immediately divorced from political control."

"We advocate that all relief funds as far as the federal government is concerned, should be by grants to the several states and administered by non-partisan committees in local communities."

"We believe this program of administering relief will save from 25 to 50 per cent of present expenditures and result in more adequate and efficient relief of needy and deserving citizens."

Two New York representatives prepared to make an attempt to put this program through Rep. Taber of the appropriations committee planned to offer an amendment providing for the grants to states, while Rep. Bacon was to submit the amendment to outlaw what the caucus termed "political control."

KING OF ARABIA INTERRUPTS AUDIENCE TO SAY HIS PRAYERS *

A Notable Usage of the Moslems---Jews at Wailing Wall---Place of Prayer in Normal Life---Jesus Keeps School.

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS

Once, at the very gates of Mecca, on the famous Pilgrim Road from Jiddah, I was given a special audience by King Ibn Saud, the new king of Arabia, and strong man of the Moslem world. He had pitched an encampment for me outside the limits of the sacred city, for no non-Moslem may enter Mecca and like a special feast had been prepared, and eaten, and then we repaired to a gorgeous tent of audience, where the king seated me beside him on an improvised throne, for a conversation that was to last throughout most of the night.

About 9 o'clock the muezzin call sounded, and, excusing himself, his majesty went off to say his evening prayers. He was not, of course, apologetic; the duty of prayer was paramount and he assured me that I would understand it. While he was gone, I had time to muse upon what it would mean to world affairs if all rulers and statesmen held the obligation to pray as part of their daily life. Could any ruler to world peace be surer or shorter than to have praying men in the high places of decision?

In the Orient, prayer is open and natural. All visitors to the Moslem East have seen the disciples of Mohammed praying by Jews at the Wailing Wall in Jerusalem is one of the "sights" that tourists try not to miss. Once in Damascus, with King Feisal, and once in Constantinople, with the Caliph, I saw great companies of men, numbering ten thousand each, engaged in concerted, public prayer. Again, in India, I once beheld a company of turbaned pilgrims, so vast that I could not estimate their numbers, engaged in the hour of prayer, rising, kneeling, prostrating, like a wheat field swept by the wind.

Something About Prayer. The instinct to pray is universal. Jesus kept a school of prayer for His disciples. And He differed from His disciples at times in making prayer a secret rite, when practiced by the individual. A man at prayer should enter his closet and shut the door, that he may conduct in confidence his most sacred transactions with the Father in Heaven. One's prayer habit is part of the life "hid with Christ in God." Jesus retired to mountain solitudes for His nights of prayer.

Indeed, Jesus rather held up to ridicule the familiar spectacle of the proud Pharisee, praying in public, in boastful, self-righteousness. Evidently the Master did not think highly of the professional religious type. His sharp words of criticism were reserved for the Pharisees, the snobbish, self-vaunting and prideful professional religionists; who, had they lived today, would have employed press agents to exploit their merits.

Famous Picture Story. Literature and religion both will always hold in vivid remembrance the Great Teacher's picture of the Pharisee and the Publican at prayer. The first was a boastful egotist. His self-exaltation was the negation of religion. He considered himself a favorite of God--was even rather condescending in his attitude toward Jehovah--and his spiritual sensibilities were so dulled by conceit and complacency that he even dared compare himself before God with the poor publican standing near.

Obviously, the whole spirit of the Pharisee was the antithesis of true prayer. Humility and reverence are the first requirements of one who would address the throne of grace. In the Orient, one must use a special vocabulary of deference in addressing royalty, how much more, in approaching the ineffable Being of Whom it is written, "Holy and reverend is His name." When men pray they must remember that not only are they on their knees, but also that God is on His throne.

In contrast to the arrogant Pharisee's mockery of true prayer, Jesus pointed to the self-abased publican, who standing apart in humblest posture, with downcast eyes, meekly upon his breast, and cried, "God be merciful to me a sinner." That, said the Master, was the sort of prayer that is heard and answered.

HINDENBURG

Record Trip May Be Made. So favorable were conditions for this pioneer flight of the Hindenburg, opening a projected series of regular voyages, that a record trip might be made.

The Zeppelin was expected originally to reach Lakehurst Saturday afternoon.

The luxurious 813-foot ship proceeded swiftly, smoothly, almost noiselessly on its journey after the delayed departure from Friedrichshafen last night at 9:30 p. m. (2:30 p. m. C. S. T.)

Dr. Eckener held up the start for more than an hour to await the evening cool and the arrival of a plane carrying mails from Frankfurt.

Rising lightly and easily from its base while thousands of residents of Friedrichshafen cheered, the Hindenburg skirted Germany's Western border during the night.

It cruised up the Rhineland and crossed the Netherlands on the route to the ocean.

Bathed in Moonlight. The great ship was bathed in moonlight on the first leg of the journey out of Germany. A searchlight played on the scenes below, showing swift progress and displaying an enchanting variety of scenery over the southwest part of Wurttemberg.

The 51 passengers, among them 15 American, vied in expressions of surprise and admiration at the comfort of the flight.

Some veterans of earlier voyages in the Graf Zeppelin, which

To make the most of dull hours, to make the best of dull people, to like a poor jest better than none, to wear a threadbare coat like a gentleman, to be outvoted with a smile, to hitch your wagon to the old horse if no star is handy--that is wholesome philosophy. --Ellis Perry.

FLAG

P. E. Crook, the guard captain who tumbled out of bed to organize efforts to get the flag down, told reporters later he had definite information that they tried this same stunt on other government buildings, but the details did not get out.

He declined to identify the other bullgays.

The captain conferred at length with Frank K. Green, the court's veteran marshal.

Supreme court police said one puzzling angle was that the flag appeared to be "a manufactured product."

"This was not just a red rag," said one of the guards who saw it before the fireman's torch reduced it to ashes. It was a regulation flag, about four feet by six."

DELEGATES NAMED BY REPUBLICANS STATE CONVENTION

"RECKLESS SPENDING GOVERNMENT FUNDS" CONDEMNED BY RESOLUTIONS

Delegates and alternates from Navarro county to the state republican convention were elected at the county republican presidential convention at the city hall Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Resolutions prepared by R. M. Albright, G. B. Scott and F. E. Butler, inviting and urging voters to renew their allegiance to the cause of the republican party and put forth every effort to elect a republican president "as such action is the only way to put an end to the reckless spending of Government funds" were unanimously passed. The resolutions also provided that the national debt is becoming larger each year and declared that the present administration was drifting from "democratic principles and that the only recourse was through the republican party."

The delegation was instructed to vote as a unit in the state convention, but was uninstructed on "men and measures to come before the state convention."

The convention was called to order by County Chairman Mose Blumrosen. Simon Daniels was secretary.

Delegates elected to attend the state republican convention in Frankfort, May 26, are Sid Hyer, Mose Blumrosen, Simon Daniels, Walter L. Roberts, R. M. Albright, Will Reid and Charlie Smith. Alternates are W. T. Shearer, W. D. Bartlett, Ray Langston, F. L. Templeton, F. G. Butler, G. B. Scott, Sr., and W. E. Butler.

MAJOR PARTIES SWING INTO HOME STRETCH WITH OVER HALF DELEGATES ALREADY KNOWN

By LEONARD B. SHUBERT Associated Press Staff Writer. WASHINGTON, May 6. (AP)—

Major parties swung into the home stretch of the pre-convention campaigns today with more than half of the delegates chosen for the big political shows next month in Philadelphia and Cleveland.

With immediate attention directed sharply toward primary battle grounds in California and South Dakota, the latest tabulations showed the Democrats have picked 552 of the 1,100 delegates to the national convention which will re-nominate President Roosevelt. The Republicans have chosen 685 of their 1,001 delegates and their predictions as to how many of them will vote.

The totals include the 44 chosen by both parties in California and eight chosen by both in South Dakota yesterday.

Incomplete returns in the California Republican vote showed that delegates pledged to Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas, without his endorsement, were running behind a slate of uninstructed delegates.

On the Democratic side, the slate picked by President Roosevelt and pledged to him, was far ahead of the slates behind the technical candidates of Upton Sinclair and Representative John McGovern.

Uninstructed Slate. In South Dakota an uninstructed slate which is claimed by supporters of Landon ran slightly ahead of a slate pledged to Senator Borah of Idaho.

Of the Republican delegates chosen so far by primary election, or in state and district party conventions, exclusive of the California and South Dakota primaries, 522 were uninstructed, and 111 were instructed.

Of the instructed votes, 90 are for Landon and 21, from Wisconsin, are for Borah. Landon's total was increased from 86 to 90 yesterday when the four delegates at large from Tennessee were pledged to him by the state convention.

Former Senator Moses of New Hampshire, a supporter of Colonel Frank Knox, Chicago publisher and a contender for the Republican nomination, was not included in the large number of uninstructed delegates and said this group will be in control at Cleveland. Of these delegates, he claimed 169 for Knox.

No specific claims as to the uninstructed delegates are being made by Landon supporters but Senator Capper of Kansas predicted the governor would get the nomination.

Other Borah Claims. Borah supporters also have made claims in addition to the 21 from Wisconsin. His backers in Illinois, where Knox won a majority in the primary recently, claim many delegates in the southern part of the state. His supporters in Pennsylvania, where the Idahoan was unopposed, said at least 20 of the 75 convention delegates were "morally obligated" although organization leaders said an uninstructed delegation would go to Cleveland.

Carl G. Bachmann, the Borah campaign manager, said in a radio address last night that "individuals and groups that have selfish interests" oppose the nomination of the veteran senator.

Remaining to be selected are 316 Republican delegates and 549 Democrats.

Several state conventions are being held this week to pick more delegates.

Connecticut Republicans were in session today with delegates having 19 convention votes to be elected. Georgia, with 14 votes, Idaho with eight, and Washington state, with 16 votes, hold Republican conventions Saturday.

District of Columbia Republicans, with three votes, assemble tomorrow.

TALKS BY MINISTERS, MUSICAL NUMBERS FEATURED BANQUET

FINAL METHODIST BROTHERHOOD BANQUET FOR SEASON TUESDAY EVENING

Short talks by three Corsicana ministers and a variety of musical numbers featured the program of the May banquet meeting of the Men's Brotherhood of the First Methodist church in the religious educational building Tuesday evening. It was the last meeting of the Brotherhood until the fall.

Boyce Martin, president, presided as toastmaster, and H. W. Richardson, church secretary, had charge of and presented the musical portion of the program.

The delicious banquet dinner was prepared and served by members of the Missionary circles of Mrs. Jack Roberts and Mrs. Ralph Tatum.

The tables were attractively decorated with bouquets of red roses, white larkspur and daisies.

The first musical numbers were given by a mixed quartet, composed of Mesdames Boyce Martin and A. L. Absher and Edgar Metcalf and E. E. Burkhardt, with Randolph Mitchell playing the accompaniment. Their numbers were "Peace Be Still," and "America the Beautiful."

As the first speaker, Rev. C. R. Gray, presiding elder of the Corsicana district Methodist Episcopal church, announced and discussed the district conference in Dawson next Tuesday.

Good Comes to Seekers.

The Rev. Mr. Gray said one of the finest ways to get good out of the world is to put one's self in the way of good things. He explained how that principle works out in all sorts of practical ways and stressed the good accruing to persons putting themselves in the way of intellectual culture and moral and spiritual good influences.

Mr. Richardson presented Patsy Ann and Marilyn Reece, daughters of Rev. and Mrs. O. W. Reece, of the First Christian church, who are accomplished artists on accordions. Their presentation was an accordion duet, "Repaz. Band." Willard Reece, their brother was added to the group, and played the snare drum with them on their next piece, which was a rendition of "Old Favorites," arranged by Reiter. As an encore, Patsy Ann and Marilyn played "Rancho Grande," a Spanish selection.

Rev. T. Edgar Neal, pastor of the church, was introduced by Mr. Martin, and reported on his activities during the past 10 days while he was conducting a revival meeting in Waxahachie. The Rev. Mr. Neal said among other things that 40 additions were made in the church, and one Sunday a collection of $500 was taken for the church budget. He said also that the morning services were well attended throughout the meeting.

In closing the host pastor said he hopes the First church can get up its conference collection to make a good report in Dawson next Tuesday and that the stewards of the church will work hard and have a successful week.

Special Stunt.

Mr. Martin conducted a stunt, in which several members of the church were called to the speakers table and gave barnyard imitations, in which they were later joined by the rest of the group.

Mr. Martin then introduced the Rev. Mr. Reece, recently of Albuquerque, N. M., who is the new pastor of the First Christian church. The Rev. Mr. Reece introduced Mrs. Reece to the assembly.

He said he was in accord with meetings of the type of the Men's Brotherhood, and was glad to see it was of city-wide influence, and not limited to men of the Methodist church.

"Throughout the ages," he continued, "the cry has been for men. While Christ was on earth, he always ministered with men and was always calling on them to leave

Waxahachie officers were notified and a short time later reported that the men had been arrested. Deputy Sheriff Jack Floyd and City Officer M. S. Griffin went to El Paso county for the men Wednesday morning.

their occupations and go with them to enlist men in the service of God."

He pointed especially to Christ bidding the fishermen to leave their nets and become "fishers of men." To Christ calling Dr. Luke to become a doctor of souls, and to Christ calling Matthew, the Publican and sinner, and making him a great gospel writer.

The Rev. Mr. Reece pointed to a contest between the Bible classes in a Christian church in Long Beach, Calif., and a Baptist church in Kansas City when on one Sunday the Christian class had 37,000 and the Baptist class had 55,000 present.

"Men are waking up to the fact that Christ's religion is one not only for women and children, and men are shouldering the responsibilities that they should have long ago," the Rev. Mr. Reece declared in closing.

The benediction was pronounced by the Rev. Mr. Neal.

DEATH OF DALLAS WOMAN BELIEVED BE RESULT NARCOTICS

AUTHORITIES DIFFER AS TO WHETHER WOMAN REMOVED AS WITNESS

DALLAS, May 5.—(AP)—Whether a woman, narcotic addict, found dead in an alley was deliberately killed to prevent her testifying in the impending trial of an accused "big shot" narcotic dealer, or was just another victim of impure narcotics, is a question puzzling authorities today.

There was a strong suspicion, unsupported by specific evidence, at the district attorney's office that the woman, Mrs. Florence Ross, 30, might have been given impure narcotics to keep her from testifying against the alleged dealer in the May term of federal court.

Officers working to control the widespread narcotic traffic were, on the other hand, inclined to think she died—as have a dozen other known addicts in Dallas during the last year—from narcotics diluted with milk of sugar or possibly chalk.

They said such inferior narcotics, cheaply made, are sold for profit, caused violent chills and high fever, with resulting acute pneumonia which addicts lacked strength to combat.

Spurred by District Attorney Clyde Eastus' announcement that the woman, released only two weeks ago from federal reformatory, might have been slain, investigators ordered a post mortem examination of her body and undertook to locate the fleeing driver of the automobile from which she was reported dumped in the alley last Saturday night.

Federal officers pointed to the intensive drive against narcotic peddlers in the last year as a probable cause of deadly impurities being put in narcotics sold in the Southwest. They said when peddlers could sell in quantity, without the present almost panicky fear of arrest, they handled pure narcotics at a good profit.

However, at this time, peddlers are in constant fear of arrest and imprisonment, they said, with the result that what narcotics are on the market illicitly are "cut" to the point where they are liable to react violently on the user, thus causing death in some cases when taken by debilitated addicts.

Mrs. Ross was sent to the federal reformatory at Alderson, Va., for a year and a day on conviction for violating the Harrison anti-narcotic act.

Officers said her body was in an alley near a known "dope joint." Shortly afterward, six addicts were arrested in a raid on the place. They were held for questioning in hope they might divulge some information about Mrs. Ross' death.

DALLAS, May 5.—(AP)—A theory that gang tactics were used to "wipe out" four narcotics informers in recent months was checked by federal agents today.

The investigation resulted from the death of Mrs. Florence Ross, 31, whose body was dumped from an automobile in South Dallas Saturday night. Officers expressed belief she died of poisoned narcotics, and a chemical analysis of her body was ordered. Commissioner Lee R. Smith said at least three other informers had died recently in a similar manner.

Secret service men said they believed Mrs. Ross was slain to prevent her testifying in a case at for this month.

Ravished Body Of Little Girl Found Tuesday

WATERVILLE, Me., May 5.—(AP)—The ravished body of Mary Proulx, 7, missing since Sunday, was found today in a clump of alder bushes on the banks of Mesalonskee stream. The child had been bound and gagged and apparently died of strangulation.

Circumstances of the playing were virtually the same as those in the unsolved slaying last October of Annie K. Knights, 12, school girl of nearby Fairfield.

Twine used to tie the child's hands was smaller than that used in the Knights case but the bow knot was the same, officials said. She had been gagged with a piece of her clothing.

Medical Examiner Napoleon Bisson said the child had been assaulted.

Robert Rancourt, high school senior, who sat his classes with other pupils to assist police and Boy Scouts in the search, found the body on the outskirts of a well-to-do residential district and about a mile and a half from the child's home. The girl was one of four children of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Proulx.

Mrs. Proulx insisted her child had been abducted almost from the moment she realized she was missing.

Mrs. Proulx told police an unidentified man had been giving her children pennies for some time past.

Man Confesses to Murder Maine Girl; Story is Doubted

BOSTON, May 7.—(AP)—Police Captain James Sheehan in announcing today that Harry Asher, 33, of Brooklyn, N. Y., a former resident of Maine, had confessed to the slaying of Mary Proulx, 7, of Waterville, Me., said he placed slight credence in the confession.

Sheehan said Asher's statement contained discrepancies which appeared "inconsistent and ridiculous."

Asher, Sheehan declared, said he committed the crime three weeks ago, whereas the child did not disappear until May 3, and that the girl appeared to be about 18 years old, whereas the Proulx girl was only 7.

Governor Louis J. Brann of Maine, who also questioned Asher, asserted he did not believe Asher's story in view of the discrepancies.

The following statement, Sheehan said, was made by Asher: "I met a little girl in Waterville and I asked her if she would like to go to New York with me. I said, 'would you like to go to New York and meet my folks. I'd like company on the road.'"

"She said, 'don't force me to go to New York. I don't want to go anywhere.' I said, 'be a good girl and come with me.' She said, 'no don't ask me to go.'"

"We walked up to some bushes. I put my arms around her. She started to cry. She said, 'leave me alone.' When she said that I took an iron bar out of my pocket and hit her twice on the head. Then I took her to the road. I did not abuse her. I went to Auburn and Augusta and then to Boston."

Asher had been taken into custody and was held as a vagrant when, Sheehan said, he made the confession.

TEXAS DEMOCRATS ARE SOLIDLY BEHIND ADMINISTRATION

HARMONY PREVAILED IN COUNTY CONVENTIONS IN STATE TUESDAY

(By The Associated Press)

Texas Democrats stood solidly behind the Roosevelt-Garner ticket today as harmonious groups of delegates from the various counties prepared for the state convention at San Antonio May 26.

Harmony prevailed at county conventions yesterday and practically every state of delegates to the state meeting was instructed to vote as a unit for Roosevelt and Garner.

John Henry Kirby, Vance Muse and Allen Shepherd, out-spoken opponents of the Roosevelt administration, were not included in the Harris county slate of delegates.

The name of Joe Bailey Humphreys, Crockett city attorney and organizer of a faction of state's rights Democrats, was stricken from the list of delegates in Houston county.

The Fort Worth convention decided Vice-president Garner was "the most useful vice-president in the history of the country. The Tarrant county group also named Elliott Roosevelt, son of the president, as a delegate to the state convention.

At Dallas, factions which previously had fought for control of the party machinery, put aside their differences in a hearty toast to the Roosevelt-Garner administration. A Townsend old age pension plan was presented at the convention but was, as in several other places, promptly voted down.

The Wichita county convention named Governor James V. Allred in its delegation to the state session after endorsing the national administration.

Few raps at the Republican party were taken at Democratic conventions, although Republicans at their meetings over the state scored Roosevelt and the new deal. At Beaumont, Dallas, Houston and other places the administration was assailed as the Republicans named delegates to that party's state convention at Fort Worth.

Well-Known Players On Arp Club to Meet Magnolia on Sunday

A number of former professional players will appear in the Arp Oiler lineup here Sunday afternoon at 3:15 o'clock against the Magnolia Refiners, according to the information furnished Manager Hubert Joyner by Jack Barton, business manager of the Oilers.

Several of the players could be playing professional ball now but remain with the oil companies and play ball as a side line.

Included in the well-known players to compete against the Refiners Sunday are former East Texas, Western Association, Texas league and major league performers. The squad includes Speck Roberts, second base; Sands, right field; Stover, third base; Hargrove, first base; Garrett, shortstop; Earnett, left field; Mueller, center field; Turk and Branch, catchers; Hulser, Eubanks, Long, Dobbs, Chambers, pitchers.

Lefty Long, pitcher, formerly hurled with the Oklahoma City club in the Western and Texas leagues. Bill Hargrove, first-sacker, formerly was a major leaguer. Branch, catcher, formerly was with the Phillies of the National league until he suffered a broken finger.

MAHAN

pected of other crimes committed since the chase began.

Waley and Wife in Prison "G-men" took up the Mahan trail in earnest when Harmon Metz Waley and Margaret, his wife, were captured in Salt Lake City, Utah. Their confession implicated the former blacksmith and auto mechanic. Waley is serving a long term in Alcatraz Island, Calif., penitentiary and his wife is locked up with other gangster "molls" in the federal jail at Milan, Mich.

Shortly after the Waleys confessed, a Butte, Mont., police officer saw Mahan flee from his parked green sedan when the officer approached. Mahan escaped, but $15,000 of the ransom bills were found in the car.

Finding of the "hideout" house and a cache of $80,700 of the ransom money in historic Immigration canyon, five miles from Salt Lake City, Utah, also followed up on the Waley confession.

Little George Weyerhaeuser left Lowell school, with a playmate at lunchtime on May 24. The other child skipped around a corner to his home and George went on. He never met his 13-year old sister, who awaited him at her seminary three blocks away.

Thrust Into Car. "George cut through the tennis club grounds, and as he emerged a man standing by a parked car stopped him, asking: "Say, son, where is Stadium way?"

Then he grabbed the child and carried him to the car.

George was held eight days in a "two-gabled" house and finally released on the road near Issaquah, Wash. 25 miles from Tacoma, after the 200,000 ransom had been paid.

The boy said his captors addressed each other as "Harry, Bill and Alvin" and that he had seen six men during his captivity. Hoover has indicated, however, that the Waleys and Mahan were the only persons involved in the plot.

Mahan, like Waley, previously had served two prison sentences and was released on parole each time. He had been sentenced to 20 years in Idaho state penitentiary at Boise on Sept. 24, 1927.

Before that he was sentenced to Deer Lodge penitentiary in Montana for grand larceny and was paroled after serving little more than a year of his 2 to 4 year term.

Mahan, native of Cando, N. D., was 32 when the Weyerhaeuser boy was kidnapped.

minings, who now is studying the case.

The federal judge received a mandate for the second sentence ten days ago from the Tenth Circuit Court of Appeals.

"In view of what has occurred at various times," the judge continued, "I feel it is my duty to defend this court."

He referred to the clemency activities of the Oklahoma club way.

"I never do anything in this court unless I can account for my actions," he continued, "and the stand of these club women forces me to defend this court."

Among the few spectators was Max Letley, 20, leader of the Muskogee movement to save Gooch from the gallows. She sobbed as sentence was passed.

Gooch was brought to Muskogee from McAlester penitentiary yesterday.

Jijiga is a highly-important point, dominating the road which runs between Harar and Berbera, capital of British Somaliland.

Italians allege that it was over this road that the majority of Ethiopia's war material entered the empire.

No resistance was offered to the Italian entrance into Jijiga.

King Victor Emmanuel today conferred upon Premier Mussolini the insignia of Cavalier of the Military Order of Savoy in recognition of Italian occupation of Addis Ababa.

Simultaneously, an extraordinary session of the grand fascist council was called for 10 p. m. Saturday. It will be followed by a cabinet meeting at 10:30 p. m., and whatever decisions are reached will be communicated to the public from the now-famous balcony of the Palazzo Venezia.

The grand fascist council is court unless I can account for my actions," he continued, "and the stand of these club women forces me to defend this court."

Among the few spectators was Max Letley, 20, leader of the Muskogee movement to save Gooch from the gallows. She sobbed as sentence was passed.

Gooch was brought to Muskogee from McAlester penitentiary yesterday.

Italy's supreme tribunal of state.

While the military forces drove their campaign toward a close, a fascist official said the political situation was "cleared up" by Emperor Haile Selassie's flight Saturday, occupation of Addis Ababa Tuesday and Premier Mussolini's declaration of unsigned peace.

Premier Mussolini conferred last night with Count Charles de Chambrun, French ambassador to Italy, and rumors circulated that the envoy presented France's supposed objections to complete annexation of Ethiopia by Italy as a colony.

Officials said they could not confirm these reports.

Italy considered Ethiopia now to be simply a colony of tribes without laws except those laid down by Marshal Pietro Badoglio.

This official said Addis Ababa, now under the civil governorship of Major Giuseppe Bottai, governor of Rome, was under martial law.

Selassie Reaches Suez. SUEZ, Egypt, May 7.—(AP)—The cruiser Enterprise, bearing the fugitive Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia and the imperial family into exile at Palestine, arrived today at this city on the southern end of the Suez canal.

The warship entered the canal but no visitors were permitted to go aboard.

Several of the party which accompanied the emperor in his flight last Saturday from Addis Ababa were observed on deck but Selassie was not in sight.

MUNITION EVILS

It must be acknowledged that munition-making is a legitimate industry in countries that sanction private enterprise. It may also be assumed that the munition industry in the United States has conducted itself more decently than those in various foreign countries. Nevertheless it is well to take seriously the conclusions of the senate munitions committee, summing up the results of its long and painstaking inquiry. It reports:

That munitions are usually sold in foreign markets by bribing officials;

That munitions interests scare governments into competitive armament by playing off one country against another;

That munition people have too much influence with the war, navy and commerce departments at Washington;

That munition industries put their own commercial policies ahead of national policies;

That their agents actively obstruct peace efforts;

That they prevent control of poison gas and high explosives.

The committee agreed unanimously in these findings. The public takes them seriously. There is no general agreement yet as to what should be done. The American people do not like public ownership of the industry, and there are obvious dangers in trying to create a government monopoly of the arms and munitions business in this country. But the old order cannot continue without important changes and reforms.

INTERSTATE MIGRATIONS.

The United States may be a settled country, but its population is far from settled if viewed through the migrations of men in public life. A writer in the New York Times points out interstate complications in the lives of many of our public men. Among presidential candidates there are native sons, adopted sons, favorite sons, and possibly others.

Senator Borah, long identified with the state of Idaho, was born in Illinois, and first practiced law in Kansas. Colonel Knox, Illinois publisher, was born in Massachusetts, and was active in business in New Hampshire for many years. Landon, governor of Kansas, was born in Pennsylvania. Herbert Hoover was born in Iowa but became President from California. Woodrow Wilson, born in Virginia, became governor of New Jersey and went to the White House from that state. W. G. McAdoo, senator from California, was born in Georgia, but was a New Yorker when he became secretary of the treasury.

The list could be prolonged indefinitely. Prominent stage, screen and literary folk, artists and musicians, business and professional leaders, may usually be claimed by more than one state apiece. It is a natural situation in a Union of states such as ours. But will this freedom of movement continue if the individual states become more self-conscious and set about keeping out unpopular migrants from other communities, as a few states are now doing?

The chief difference between America and the Old World is that we can still say no.

NEIGHBORLY VISIT.

Lord Tweedsmuir, governor-general of Canada, has invited President Roosevelt to visit the Dominion as his guest. Mr. Roosevelt would obviously like to accept the invitation, but is not sure that he can get away any time soon.

Such visits are very uncommon. High Canadian officials visit Washington oftener than high American officials visit Ottawa. The present head of the Canadian government, Premier Mackenzie King, visited the White House last year after his successful campaign, before he assumed office. President Harding made a short excursion into British Columbia while on a western trip, shortly before his death. Apparently no President while in office has ever gone to the Canadian capital.

There is no rule against it, however. It would be a friendly and neighborly thing to do, even if, as in this case, the host represents the British government rather than the Canadian government. Canadians would be pleased and complimented, and they are our best foreign friends.

PERSISTENT LIFE

Russian scientists are said to have dug ten to fifteen feet into long-frozen ground in Siberia and brought out and revived eggs and crawfish buried there for 3,000 years. Says the correspondent's report:

"Eggs and crawfish dating from the same period have been hatched, and ten normal generations of crawfish, consisting of 100 individuals, have been reproduced. The specimens when removed from the frozen soil below the thawing zone were placed in a jar of distilled water, and when the soil thawed, embryos of the various organisms were revived."

Scientists in the American Southwest have been succeeding in similar experiments with spores, only the spores they have revived are only 250 years old. Soil bacteria colonies that have been in suspended animation since 1687 were taken from the four-foot brick walls of an adobe structure at Tumacacori, Ariz. Given moisture and oxygen, the bacteria now live and multiply. Ninety-four colonies of bacteria were first observed under the microscope. Forty-eight hours later the number of colonies had risen to 131. As the moisture and oxygen are removed, the specimens begin putting on a thicker cell wall. The protoplasm thickens and contracts until eventually respiration and reproduction cease, and they go again into a state of suspended animation. Then they become immune to almost every condition except fire.

These two experiments in such widely different climates are fascinating. The scientists working at them believe they may have practical application. At least they reveal surprising things about the persistence of certain forms of life under adverse conditions.

EAST AND WEST

As for the fight between Hopkins and Ickes, over relief policies, Jay Franklin in his syndicated column explains it like this: "Hopkins wants to have the unemployed eat regular. Ickes wants the government to have something to show for its money." Both laudable aims, no doubt. The prob-

THINGS MADE NEW

One of the remarkable things about the present industrial recovery is its artistic phase. There has been surprisingly little comment on this fact. It is almost the literal truth that artistically all things today, in this supposedly inartistic country, are being made new.

Take one sample, and you might say homely, example. A pipe-smoking friend, between puffs, is discussing pipes. He has been making quite a collection lately, and points to them proudly as they stand on their rack together. Every one of them, he maintains, is beautiful in color, line and proportion, and some of them are attractive in ways never thought of before.

Even pip-cleaners have grown artistic. Who could make such a device ornamental? But some manufacturer seems to have done it. A metal cleaner of an old style, with three parts devoted to as many special operations on a pipe, has evolved without mechanical change into an almost jewel-like instrument of steel-blue, adorned with a delicate frieze.

Similar progress has come to other small tools and utensils of a thousand kinds, for personal, household and office use. The same esthetic urge is seen more conspicuously in more bulky things like kitchen stoves and refrigerators, and in light fixtures, plumbing and furniture. It appears, of course, in new designs for homes, office buildings, factories, bridges and so on.

Many of the new experiments in art are of doubtful beauty and value. But the artistic urge, stronger than ever before in our history, is important. And the failures are soon discarded. Really, it looks as if America at last has entered its Artistic Age. Even vegetables are displayed artistically, and parcels from the stores are wrapped artistically. Art, as never before, comes into common life.

lem is to reconcile them. And that is quite a job.

"It is another form of the old battle between the West and the East," says Franklin. "The West wants capital—roads, bridges, dams, power houses, irrigation canals—and the East wants food. The unemployed stomachs are in the East, and the unemployed resources in the West."

Somewhat, sooner or later, regardless of Kipling's prophecy, the twain must meet.

A favorite sport this year is panning panaceas.

GROESBECK, May 7.—(Spl.)—The story of the famous white captives, Cynthia Ann Parker, still holds its place as the most thrilling episode in the history of the Southwest. So says James T. Shields eminent historian who wrote a book entitled "Cynthia Ann Parker," in 1936.

SECOND QUARTERLY CONFERENCE FIRST METHODIST CHURCH

REPORTS INDICATE FIRST CHURCH ACTIVE; CONFERENCE DELEGATES NAMED

Dr. C. R. Gray, presiding elder of the Corsicana district, presided at the second quarterly conference of the First Methodist church in the Educational building Wednesday night. Edgar Metcalf acted as secretary. Prior to the business of the conference Dr. Gray held a devotional.

Reports were made by Rev. T. Edgar Neal on the state of the church; W. H. Norwood, general Sunday School superintendent, on the activities of the Sunday school and young people's work; Miss Aileen Caraway for the children's division; Mrs. H. W. Richardson for the young people's division; Boyce Martin for the adult division; T. J. Walton for the benevolent committee, and Mrs. A. W. Rogers, president of the Woman's Missionary Society.

The reports showed much activity in all branches of the church for the first six months of the fiscal year. Dr. Gray, commenting on the various reports and the many activities of the church, stated it was too bad that every member of the church could not hear the reports and see just how active the church has been in its entire program.

T. J. Walton, chairman of the benevolent committee, has purchased another wheel chair for the church, giving his committee two chairs to be loaned for the sick and injured. Rev. T. Edgar Neal gave some figures covering his two and one-half years as pastor of the church. He called attention to the fact that only one Sunday and one more board meeting would be held before the district conference in Dawson next Tuesday, and urged his hearers to help him make as fine a financial showing as possible at this meeting.

New Tax Bill Expected to Yield $803,000,000

Tax on corporation net income surplus to yield $623,000,000.

Henry Morgenthau, Jr.

"Windfall" tax aimed to recover uncollected AAA processing taxes to yield $100,000,000.

Temporary continuation of capital stock and excess profits tax to yield $80,000,000.

Provisions of the new corporation surplus tax bill, an administration measure which Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., helped author, are expected to bring $803,000,000 into the treasury. A new general scale of rates on corporation net income, designed to prevent "unreasonable" surpluses, and force their distribution to stockholders, is expected to yield about $623,000,000.

A second provision calls for an 80 per cent tax on processors who were "unjustly enriched" by AAA processing taxes passed on to consumers but not collected by the government. Third main clause calls for temporary continuation of the capital stock and excess profits taxes which would bring in about $80,000,000 during their remaining effective period.

Neville Chamberlain

Back of the current rumors regarding possible early retirement of Stanley Baldwin, British prime minister, is the determined activity of the younger members of the Conservative party of which Baldwin is a leader. These "young rebels" are credited with backing the movement to displace Baldwin with Neville Chamberlain who is considered more sympathetic to the interests of younger party members. The junior faction claim they have been slighted and kept from important posts with the exception of the appointment of Anthony Eden as foreign secretary. Appointment of Baldwin's successor, if and when that comes about, will be up to King Edward VIII.

Film Stars Find Fame Fickle

Anna Sten

Diana Wynward

Maurice Chevalier

Ruth Chatterton

One of the perennial mysteries of Hollywood is the manner in which "unknowns" skyrocket to fame overnight and established stars tumble to oblivion almost as suddenly. Even those riding the crest of the wave have no assurance that their place in the sun will not be eclipsed by some unforeseen factor. Maurice Chevalier, Diana Wynward, Ruth Chatterton and Anna Sten are some who have up-and-down careers. And despite the occasional success of an extra, only a few of the thousands who seek cinema fame ever realize their ambition. Apparently there is no way of foretelling the shifting fortunes common to screen careers, since public favor is such an uncertain quantity and the factors determining popularity are of such vague nature.

Membership in 4-H clubs, a nation-wide institution for the development of youth in rural sections, is expected to pass the million mark in 1936. Enrollment gained nearly 10 per cent last year and is on the steady upward swing. Started in 1899 as a branch of the extension service under the department of agriculture, the organization has expanded steadily until it is now active in more than 3,000 counties in United States. The four-point program, symbolized in the name, is based on the development of the head, heart, hand and health. The work is supported by state, federal and county funds and is supervised by more than 100,000 local volunteer leaders working in co-operation with public employees. National prize winners for the different 4-H projects are selected annually at the convention held in Chicago in conjunction with the International Livestock exposition.

Birch Oil Industry Unique

Boiling the birch bark

Grinding chips

Stripping bark

One of the most unusual of the thousands of smaller industries which contribute their bit to keeping the wheels of commerce turning is the manufacture of birch oil. In the historical Oley valley area of Berks county, Pennsylvania, a number of somewhat dilapidated sheds house the various small mills which carry on this $100,000 industry. The oil is distilled from bark stripped from birch branches and the product sold to druggists who use it in ointments and liniments. Juice boiled from the branches is distilled in a process similar to that used in making liquor and a thick oil substance is left. It takes three three-ton truck loads of branches to yield four quarts of oil which represents a day's output of one mill and sells for about $117.

THE PROPER TOOLS.

THINGS YOU NEED. To do a proper job on your face or nails you need the proper implements. Miss Forbes tells you what to get and how to use them afterwards.

It is impossible to keep yourself really good looking if you have not the proper tools to work with. For in the matter of the manicure, you must own a really very good pair of curved blade cuticle scissors for no matter what the cosmetic house tell you, it is impossible not to cut the cuticle from time to time. You will make a ragged job of this without good scissors, but with them it is perfectly simple. I marvel at the so-called cuticle scissors many shops sell. Many have straight blades and are utterly useless; many have curved blades but so long that if the amateur tried to use them she would take a place right out of her finger. The curved blades should be very short, the handle part long enough to manage comfortably.

You need these, a short heavy file with a blade for cleaning under the nails and also for scraping the dead cuticle from the nails, and you need a good supply of emery boards as well as a long, flexible file for shaping the nails. Besides that you need the usual number of cuticle bleaches, softener, polish and polish remover. With all this you can do a perfect job. Then there is the matter of face massage. You can do this if you have the proper tools. In this case the thing to use is an electric vibrator which tones up the muscles and stimulates the circulation, in fact does everything that facial massage can do.

What about the pedicure? If you have the proper implements there is no reason why you cannot keep your feet in excellent condition at home without going to a chiropodist more than once in six months.

You need a safety corn knife and a corn file, and for the rest you use your manicure outfit, with, however, a slightly heavier pair of scissors for cutting the tougher nails of the toes. You should also have lamb's wool for wrapping up sore toes.

Mrs. H. J.—One reason why it is almost impossible to get rid of freckles is the fact that as fast as they are bleached new ones are in the process of forming. They are nature's protection, just as a coat of tan is also. They are not disfiguring, although sometimes the person who has them feels that they are. They are reminders of sunshine, the wind, and all the healthful outdoor activities. Usually the skin that freckles is of a very fine grain, and sensitive, so it is taking chances to be continually using powerful bleaches on it. You would have to change your own chemical makeup not to form these freckles over the months in a climate where there is strong sunshine.

Mrs. H.—You may mix any oil with a cold cream, whether you put it on the skin in separated layers or whether you beat the cream and oil and beat them together, and then use the thinned down mixture on your skin. What you appear to want is the oil, and you can use that alone on your skin if you wish.

E. M.—The best method of encouraging the lashes to grow is by getting a better circulation all around the roots. You may do this easily by grasping a number of hairs at a time, and giving them a tug, as this stretching of the tiny muscles along the edge of the eyelid acts as an exercise and increases the circulation. Tonics, even those in the form of oils, may easily get into the eyes and cause some irritation.

THIS WAS JUST WHAT TRIX HAD BEEN WAITING FOR AND SLICELY HE LICKED THE HAND OF HIS PROTECTOR.

PROF. VILLANO THREATENED TO PULL TRIX OFF THE PICTURE UNLESS FULLER PHUN APOLOGIZED. MR. PHUN SAID HE WOULDN'T APOLOGIZE BUT THAT HE'D BUY THE DOG OUTRIGHT. NO ONE KNOWS WHAT PRICE WAS PAID EXCEPT THE PROFESSOR AND THE COMEDIAN, AND THEY WON'T TELL, BUT TRIX WINKED AT ME AND INTIMATED WITH A KNOWING BARK THAT IT WAS "PLENTY."

COUNTY DEMOCRATS PLEDGE CONTINUED ROOSEVELT SUPPORT

BEAUFORD JESTER NAMED
PERMANENT CHAIRMAN;
C. J. HALL, SECRETARY

By PAUL MOORE

Resolutions endorsing the present Democratic administration headed by President Roosevelt and Vice President Garner and pledging continued support and faith in the Democratic leadership as being that of the masses instead of the interests were unanimously passed at the Navarro county Democratic convention held at the courthouse Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock. Delegates were elected to attend the state convention in San Antonio May 28.

Beauford H. Jester of Corsicana and C. J. Hall of Kerens were elected temporary chairman and secretary, respectively, and later were elected permanent chairman and secretary of the convention.

Crawford Presided. The meeting was called to order by N. S. Crawford, chairman of the Navarro county Democratic executive committee, and the roll call of precincts was made by R. R. Owen, secretary of the county committee.

Twenty-six precincts answered the roll call.

A credentials committee composed of Dr. J. C. Blair of Kerens as chairman, and F. M. Copeland of Pearsburg, and A. N. Justices of Corsicana, was appointed and reported no delegations were contested and all were in order.

County Chairman N. S. Crawford sounded the keynote sentiment of the convention by his endorsement of Roosevelt in all his endeavors to help the people. He declared the president hadn't quit and when something tried his patience, he had tried something else. He declared that Roosevelt had set the American people back on their feet.

Chairman Jester endorsed Crawford's remarks and added that the present administration has done much for farming, the basic industry of the South, and that this is the first time that the farmers had been aided. He asked what would have been the condition of the South if it hadn't been for the AAA program.

A committee composed of N. S. Crawford of Kerens, chairman; G. H. Brown, Corsicana; J. H. Farmer, Dawson; W. A. Sims, Frost, and A. A. Allison, Corsicana, was appointed to select the delegation to go to the state convention.

Delegates Selected. The delegates selected and appointed are C. J. Hall, Kerens; Dr. J. C. Blair, Kerens; Dr. John W. Matlock, Frost; Judge C. L. Jester, Corsicana; Congressman Luther A. Johnson, Corsicana; Rufus Hardy, former congressman, Corsicana; J. F. Smith, Dawson; H. H. Hanks, Powell; Will Trammell, Bazette; J. R. Griffin, Blooming Grove; J. E. Laney, Frost; Mayor John S. Murchison, Corsicana; Edward L. Blansitt, Powell; County Judge C. E. McWilliams; Mrs. R. P. Garrett, Whites Chapel; County Auditor J. M. Tullis; Spart Berry, Dawson; J. K. Hawthorne, Streetman; T. Lynch, Dawson; Mrs. J. E. Laney, Frost; Guy M. Gibson, Corsicana; B. W. George, Corsicana; Beauford H. Jester, Corsicana; R. B. Molloy, Corsicana, and the delegate nominating committee.

The platform and resolutions committee appointed by the Navarro county Democratic convention, outlined the national and state plan for securing funds for the approaching presidential campaign. He declared that the Republicans were planning to expend the greater amount of money in history to try to defeat Roosevelt and Garner and that the Democrats were organizing to meet the situation and that the campaign of the leaders would be carried to the masses.

Funds Needed. B. W. George, Corsicana, member of the state executive committee from the Sixth Congressional District, outlined the national and state plan for securing funds for the approaching presidential campaign. He declared that the Republicans were planning to expend the greater amount of money in history to try to defeat Roosevelt and Garner and that the Democrats were organizing to meet the situation and that the campaign of the leaders would be carried to the masses.

Dr. Blair of Kerens and Fred copeland of Pearsburg made short talks.

Wayne R. Howell of Corsicana declared that he had never known anything except Democracy and did not expect to ever be anything but a Democrat.

Mrs. R. P. Garrett of White's Chapel, outlined the benefits as seen from the viewpoint of a farm wife. "Unless we go into this program and put it over, we will go back to five-cent cotton," she declared, and further added that the "Democratic program means everything and we are behind the administration" as it puts the children in school instead of being required to stay in the fields in an effort to make a living.

Sadie Ransom, deputy county clerk, declared that President Roosevelt had turned the tide and urged Democrats to keep the Republicans on the run.

Praises Administration. W. A. Sims, Frost, long-time Democratic leader, declared that the Democrats were the only ones who had ever done anything for the farming interests. He outlined the establishment of the federal land banks which reduced interest on farm loans from 8 to 5 1/2 per cent, established county agents work, 4-H clubs, pensions, lower tariffs, etc.

Mr. Sims declared that congress "passed the buck" to Roosevelt when he took office and the president organized the AAA and the farmers began getting in better financial condition. He rapped John H. Kirby, Houston, anti-Roosevelt man, and condemned "an organization in New York, headed by our past candidate."

The denunciation also included those responsible for the circulating of a picture of the president's wife in past weeks.

Other speakers included G. H. Brown, Navarro county school superintendent; J. J. Kelt, Chatfield; County Judge C. E. McWilliams; G. W. Watson, Barry; Bud Cook, precinct chairman for the past 20 years at Black Hills; H. Hanks, Powell banker, and a number of others.

Mr. Cook complimented the hardworking convention. He declared the Democratic program of Roosevelt would be a success if everyone would do their share and help.

H. H. Hanks of Powell, speaking of the benefits of the AAA program, declared that it was difficult to tell what would have happened to the farming and allied interests if something had not been done by Roosevelt.

A. A. Allison, Corsicana postmaster, declared that the time had come to either fight for the freedom of the common man or revert back to "conservatism" for government for the good of the masses or for the few who control the wealth of the country.

Allison declared that the money changers were busy trying to get the control from the masses, and outlined the favors given Texas by the administration. He praised Congressman Sam Rayburn for his stand and fight against utility.

AUSTIN, May 5.—(P)—Lion A. Smith, member and former chairman of the Texas Railroad commission, said today he would strongly oppose Texas' participation in another interstate oil compact unless other states guaranteed "religious observance" of its provision.

Smith's statement came after a week of comparative quiet in the Texas industry, marked otherwise by decision of the Texas commission, state oil proration administration, to seek a conference with Louisiana officials on problems on the New Rodessa field, located on the Texas-Louisiana border.

Smith declared that Oklahoma, a compact signatory, had consistently been guilty of over-production as compared with Texas' area, reserves and number of fields, and that Louisiana, which did not sign the pact, also was over-producing in comparison with Texas.

He said the interstate compact centered power "where it ought not to be, probably in Washington," adding that it had put shackles on the Texas Petroleum industry.

"The oil compact has served its main purpose, which was to sidetrack federal control and the states seem to be letting up on it now," he said. "Oklahoma is producing more all the time and has consistently produced more than its ratable share compared to Texas. The Rodessa field is giving Louisiana more than its equitable share."

Ernest O. Thompson, commission chairman, was not available for comment. Thompson is Texas' representative on the compact commission and has been one of its staunchest supporters.

LON A. SMITH WILL OPPOSE RENEWAL OIL STATES COMPACT UNLESS TERMS ARE OBSERVED

MOTOR VEHICLES MUST BE REGISTERED IN HOME COUNTIES

COURT CRIMINAL APPEALS
RULES IN TEST CASE; ACTION BEING PLANNED

AUSTIN, May 6.—(P)—The Court of Criminal Appeals ruled today in a test case that motor vehicles must be registered in the county of the owners' residence.

The decision was in the appeal of W. L. Opp, fined $1 in Bexar county on a charge of registering a truck in LaSalle county.

The Department of Public Trustee, for J. A. Thompson, Jr., et ux, to Joe B. Fortson, Jr., part of Block 575, Corsicana, $3,000.

Grant Brown, negro, indicted recently on an assault with intent to murder complaint in connection with the shooting of a negro near Montfort recently, was released on bond from the county jail Wednesday morning.

A woman arrested by city officers was fined on a drunkenness charge Tuesday by Judge M. Bryant.

Precinct Births. The following birth certificates were filed in the office of W. T. McFadden, justice of the peace, precinct 1, place 2, and registrar for precinct 1, during the month of April.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Etheridge Jackson, Corsicana, March 8, a son.

Connie D. Gillum, Corsicana 4, January 15, a son.

Walter Melvin Caskey, Corsicana 1, Jan. 1, a son.

George Robert Owens, Eureka, March 4, a son.

Claude Wilson, Richland, Feb. 27, a son.

Fred Robert Whitfield, Corsicana 1, March 10, a son.

J. D. Bedford, Eureka, March 20, a daughter.

Homer Franklin Logan, Corsicana 1, April 3, a daughter.

Lawrence Howell, Corsicana 3, March 15, a daughter.

Frank James Greenup, Corsicana 4, Dec. 28, 1935, a daughter.

R. L. Epperson, Corsicana 5, April 24, a son.

W. H. Tucker, Corsicana 1, April 16, a daughter.

Safety has withheld enforcement of the law pending the decision. Officials indicated they would move immediately to stop what they termed "a growing menace."

They said that in some counties contiguous to large centers of population tax collectors offered discounts to motorists and owners of large fleets of vehicles to register outside the county of residence.

Officials also said the rule of registering in another county was being widely practiced by persons seeking to evade ad valorem taxes on their vehicles and to escape penalties for minor traffic violations in their home counties.

It was estimated the practice was costing the highway department thousands of dollars annually in construction and maintenance revenues since tax collectors in the smaller counties are not required to share collections with the state and their books are not subject to state inspection.

Opp replied on a section of the registration law which stated "nothing in this act shall authorize any person to be subject to penalty of law on account of his place of residence in this state or occupation pursued." The court held this section meaningless.

The Conviction Affirmed. The conviction of Curly Burleson in San Augustine county for extortion was affirmed. Burleson was sentenced to six years on a charge of extorting $30.25 from a negro.

The court denied Burleson's plea for a reversal on the ground no weapon was used and that no money was collected immediately. "We think that if a threat to kill or inflict serious bodily injury is made with the intent of extorting money, and as a result of such threat money is obtained from the party threatened, whether immediately or at some future time, it is sufficient as long as the person threatened is laboring under the fear of the threat, regardless of whether a weapon is used," the court stated.

Burleson's conviction on a hog theft charge was reversed and remanded because of refusal of the trial court to admit certain defense testimony.

The 15-year sentence assessed W. J. Yarbrough in Crosby county on a charge of assault to murder the late Sheriff W. B. Arthur of Dickens county was affirmed. Arthur attempted to arrest Yarbrough and was wounded. Arthur was killed later while attempting to prevent the escape of Virgil Stalcup and Clarence Brown from the Dickens jail. Stalcup was electrocuted early Monday for the sheriff's slaying.

The court affirmed a five-year sentence assessed J. C. Howard in Harris county on a charge of robbing Mrs. Frances Russell of Houston of $1,100. The state charged he grabbed her purse.
